

CLOSING THE OVERHEAD DOOR

We get so used to pulling the overhead door shut that we miss the repetitive mechanics of the actual task. Pulling with just one arm will put a lot of stress on the shoulder joint which after many years can become arthritic. Distribute that stress throughout your body by perhaps using both hands but more importantly letting your body weight to pull on the strap. Less wear-and-tear equals happier old age!